OPINIONS OF CELEBRITIES IN LIFE'S VARIOUS WALKS ON THE TWENTIETH CENTURY'S MOST IMPORTANT TASK.

IN RESPONSE TO THE QUESTION, "WHAT IS THE MOST IMPORTANT TASK OF THE TWENTIETH CENTURY?" CELEBRITIES IN VARIOUS WALKS OF LIFE HAVE EXPRESSED THE FOLLOWING OPINIONS:

DR. PAUL KRUGER.—I hope the Twentieth Century will witness the universal adoption of arbitration, for this is the only means of rightly settling quarrels between nations.

ANDREW CARNEGIE.—I should like to see the profession of arms, now considered by many as the noblest, held in the Twentieth Century to be of all human occupations the most dishonorable. I should like to see the killing of men under the name of war abolished, and the earth thereby freed from its foulest stain.

SUSAN B. ANTHONY.—If I could return to the earth at the close of the Twentieth Century, I would like best to see the great Republic practicing the principles embodied in the declaration, "Governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed."—governed by women as well as by men.

JANE HADING.—To bring forth more dramatists, writing fewer plays; to have fewer playhouses and those with competent members; to have more actors and fewer actresses; to have more criticism; that will neither be dramatists nor actresses, nor fathers-in-law, nor sons of dramatic authors, and actresses.

CAROLUS DURAN.—Let us hope that at the end of the century just dawning Christianity will be established more firmly and extensively, and its principles more faithfully practiced. But let us remember that this will not be accomplished until the principle is honestly admitted and sincerely practiced, that the moral law is binding on all nations and generations.

LIEUTENANT RICHARD P. HORSBY.—Raising the standard of life of the millions in China, for by so doing will be raised the standard of life throughout the world. Then the industrial resources of China will enhance the value of all civilization.

CAROLUS DURAN.—I hope to see humanity more closely follow the doctrine of Christ, "Love one another." I hope to see wars cease to be a vain waste of life and energy.

THE TASK OF THE TWENTIETH CENTURY IS HEREBY, ALAS! EUROPE AND AMERICA IN ARMS TO MAKE A BEAUTIFUL PROMISE FOR THE FUTURE.

THE REV. DR. T. DE WITT TALMAGE.—At the close of the Twentieth Century I would have to more gathering of alms for the poor, because all the poor will have been killed.

TERIA MEDLEY.—A pharmacy and a dentist, each of which has been gradually afflicted with nerve or lung, or tooth, or eye, or limb. Healthfully complete and universal. The good Lord could do as easily in a hundred years as in a day.

INFANTA ELEANOR.—I desire to see the independence of women more generally asserted in the Twentieth Century. An example is ever being set by the young.

REAR ADMIRAL PHILIP HICKEY.—I should like to see the submarine torpedo boat, which will successfully cope with the submarine torpedo boat, which will successfully cope with the submarine torpedo boat.

THE PERFECTION OF THE AIRSHIP WILL ALSO BE ONE OF THE WONDERS OF THE TWENTIETH CENTURY.—What can be done with an airship equipped for war, dropping dynamite or bombs in the field of battle, and on cities in a matter of hours, the imagination, but it will be realized within the next hundred years.

JULES VERNE.—The most important task of the Twentieth Century may not appear to men now. I wish that the social progress of the Twentieth Century would be the progress of humanity.

LYDIA BRYCE.—These are the most important tasks: The substitution of a political factor of the Twentieth Century for the political factor of the Twentieth Century.

GEORGE D. HERBERT.—I would like to see the modernism and modernism, which civilization supplanted by the economic and social order that would spring from the scientific order of society. I should like to see the modernism that would thereby come to human life.

G. CLEMENCEAU.—Considering the events of the last years of the Nineteenth Century, I would like to see the Twentieth Century more closely follow the doctrine of Christ, "Love one another." I hope to see wars cease to be a vain waste of life and energy.

P. MARION CRAWFORD.—A modest, efficient, distribution of wealth and power, for the betterment of the human condition, and the betterment of the human condition.

EDNA LAYL.—I hope for a simplification of life, a greater simplicity of worship and more inwardness in religion. I hope for arbitration instead of war and for the triumph of Jesus and universal brotherhood over our great evil.

EX-GOVERNOR ALLEGED.—The question is too big for me, but it looks to me as if the establishment of a moral order, the harmony of the great problem of the immediate future.

ALFRED HARNSWORTH.—I hope for the abolition of physical pain.
